Harnessing the power of your data is a key component in providing high-quality, efficient care and improving patient outcomes. But far too often, roadblocks—limited access to longitudinal patient data, lack of reliable tools, and slow and ineffective provider benchmarking—stand between you and success in risk-based contracts.

We can help you overcome those roadblocks and find the pathway to success in value-based care. Join us for a panel discussion led by Aneesh Chopra, President of CareJourney and Valinda Rutledge, Senior Vice President of Federal Affairs for America's Physician Groups to learn how the nation's leading health providers are tackling these everyday challenges. Learn about the best practices, lessons learned, and tips to:

- Build better networks
- Optimize existing network performance
- Identify best practices and best/worst performing providers for inclusion/exclusion
- Identify and minimize network leakage
