

Call for Participation in 2022 APG Annual Compensation Surveys

APG encourages its members to participate in the 2022 APG Annual Compensation Surveys. APG, with the help of Gallagher, a leading compensation consulting firm, conducts an annual survey that collects, analyzes, and reports highly detailed information on salaries and incentives, pay structures/ranges, and special pay practices for physicians, healthcare executives, and staff. APG members can use the survey results to stay current and competitive on salaries and benefits and compare compensation to other organizations.

There are two separate surveys, and both are open to APG members and non-member physician organizations. Only those who participate in the survey are eligible to receive a report with comprehensive analysis of the results.

The Physician Compensation & Production Survey includes Primary Care and Specialty data. The 2021 survey collected data on over 140 specialties. This survey is open now and closes April 8.

The Executive & Staff Compensation Survey covers 60-plus staff positions (mostly clinical), including more than 17 leadership and C-suite positions. Participation in the survey opens February 2 and closes April 1.

Results from both surveys will be published in early August 2022.

Contact Lura Hawkins, APG Vice President of Member Services, at lhawkins@apg.org, for more information on participating in the survey.